

Applying concepts

Using the web browser, the user, through a HTTP connection will connect to the server side of the application. Through the user interface the user can filter the data, which will filter all the results shown. The information that is given to the user is gathered from OpenStreetMap.

